
Tony Robbins with Frank Kern and John Reese

In this interview I meet with two very successful students, Frank Kern and John Reese. Both of them are self-made multi millionaires who made their fortunes by selling products on the Internet. What's particularly interesting about both of them is that neither had any "real" education. Neither one finished college and they both went from being broke to becoming wealthy.

And they still continue to thrive in today's economy. So the purpose of this interview is to uncover the traits that successful people have in common. Specifically, the traits that cause them to take massive action and follow through. As you'll see, the solution is really quite simple and available to us all.
